Hello,

I am Alicia DeGon, LLLT. I am not an attorney, rather, my legal license type is new in Washington State. Licensed legal providers like me don't "represent" people in court, my clients represent themselves by often trying to avoid court all together.

I am very pleased to share with you that my office has been hired to reach out to you in an effort to seek agreement(s) specific to a family law issue. My client has approved this message within with the rules that authorize my work.

Please note that while I have mediation experience, I am not able to serve as a neutral party based on the circumstances at this time. I do intend to listen for solutions in a collaborative way as instructed by my client.

To explore coming to an agreement, please give me a call or book me online within the next 24 hours at <https://calendly.com/aliedegon/existing-flat>. You can also read more about what I am doing at my website, www.mylegalpitstop.com/AGREE. You are of course under no obligation to speak with me.

I look forward to hearing from and hopefully, working with you. Should you choose to hire an attorney, please give that person this letter.

Alicia DeGon
